

New Hexagon Project Blog for teachers and Students!

Link your students to others across the nation and the world to share their work, ideas and understandings about interdependence!

We hope to develop a space here to promote collaboration, report on actions and beliefs by young people toward a more empathic and civil society. Let it start with YOU!

Thank you to Emily Cook, NBCT, at North Hills Middle School, Chicgo Area, for her help with this endeavor!

Hexagon Project Weebly BLOG Instructions: Important Note:

Please make sure that you have screened and approved all content and images prior to uploading. We would appreciate that everyone follows proper e-communication and collaboration etiquette.

Teachers please access The Hexagon Project Blog - thehexagonprojectblog.weebly.com at

<http://www.weebly.com>

Log in username: ecook@sd25.org

Password: cardinal

Click on Edit

Click on the link where you would like to add media or reflections

Click on New Post

Add a Title for the post

Drag "Paragraph with picture" from the menu bar below the post title

Add reflections in the "click here and start typing" box

Click on sample image and click here to edit

Browse for an image to upload

Click on edit photo and re-size

Click save in the upper right corner

Click on publish in the upper right hand corner

Comments from outsiders or anyone can be made on the posted website, without logging in to post or edit!!